VOLUME V. CARMEL, CALIFORNIA, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 7, 1937. NUMBER 11.

Sees Self in Clay

Bust of Actor

The front page of this issue is given over to a picture of a bust of George Marion, Carmel's most beloved actor. It is the work of Frederick Burt, former Broadway star, director, amateur sculptor and painter.

Unfortunately, Burt is camera shy and refused to pose with his masterpiece. Fortunately, Marion liked it and was looking it over as our camera clicked.

Unfortunately (again), but few Carmelites have been privileged to visit Burt's studio and view his sculpture and paintings. He has a creative urge that is all his own and when he satisfies it the work graces his own studio and is never placed upon exhibition.

Burt and Marion were intimate friends on Broadway. This friendship inspired this bit of sculpture which is unquestionably his best work.

Marion needs no introduction to any Carmelite. Therefore, his bust on the front page needed no caption.

Suzie Chapman of Carmel and her schoolmate Jeannie Weill of Monterey gave a barbecue supper Friday night to which they invited Jane Millis, Camille Burnham, Nancy Weill, Ted Gates, Addington Cady, Spencer Kern, Markham Johnston and George Wishart.

The party was held at Jeannie's house in Monterey.

MRS. CLARK PASSES

Funeral services were held Monday at All Saints Episcopal Church for Mrs. Emma Fowler Clark, 83, who died Saturday evening. Mrs. Clark had been an invalid for eight years as a result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident. She was the widow of Judge Charles Clark whose death occurred several weeks ago, and it is believed that this shock contributed to Mrs. Clark's demise.

Had Judge Clark survived, Easter Sunday would have marked their 60th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Clark was responsible in a great measure for the founding of All Saints' Episcopal Church, as she was a pioneer in the movement to establish an Episcopal Parish in Carmel.

In the absence of Rev. Austin B. Chinn, who was a devoted friend of Judge and Mrs. Clark, the services were conducted by the Rev. Albert Clay.

Mrs. Clark, a native of New Orleans, is survived by a daughter, Miss Margaret Nutt Clark of Carmel and three sons, Charles Edgar of Memphis, Tennessee, Benjamin Palmer of Austin, Texas and Jefferson Davis Clark of Jackson, Mississippi.

Mildred Sahlstrom Wright spent three days in San Francisco last week and enjoyed ice skating for the first time in twenty years. We might add that the skating was done at a rink, and therefore, we remain innocent of any disparaging innuendos anent San Francisco's climate.

Hollywood Ballet

Some of Hollywood's most glamorous girls, as well as a number of internationally known solo dancers, will appear in the Hollywood Symphonic Ballet to be held at Del

Monte Wednesday, April 14, in aid of the Carmel Mission Restoration Fund.

Comedy will be the key-note of the ballets which have been conceived in the modern manner by Aida Broadbent and Marcel Silver and have received ovations in all of the important centers of the country.

Miss Broadbent as the premiere ballerina in the feature presentation "Hollywood," depicts with satirical humor the unfortunate lot of the lowly "stand-in" during the making of a big motion picture.

"Be Kind" Week

Want a Dog?

This is "Be Kind to Animals Week.'

Mrs. M. J. Peterson, who is handling publicity for the Humane Society in the Carmel area, took our cameraman to the animal shelter in Monterey so that he and his camera could see what the organization is doing.

In one of the pictures on this page Mrs. Peterson is shown with a couple of very lively puppies who hope that someone will give them a home.

The large picture above is of a freak of nature but shows that the shelter has a wide assortment of wards. Its front legs are badly bowed and its feet are large enough to serve as snowshoes. Its rear legs are too long and when it sits down it looks more like a frog than a dog.

The shelter takes care of all types of animals and endeavors to find homes for them. Your dues of $1 per year provides food for them.

Mrs. Arthur Fowler has left Pebble Beach with the John Magees for a short trip to the Redwoods in Oregon.

There is some justice in the world after all. Joe Catherwood forgot that March had 31 days. On the last day of the month he and h igsarlic candy went on a private April fooling campaign. His numerous victims had their laugh the next day when Joe ordered a cheese sandwich over the American Legion club bar. When he bit into it he discovered that he had a mouthful of the most aromatic garlic that Julian had been able to forage.

Mr. A. C. Lafrenz entertained as week end guests his aunt, Mrs. Francisca Kelb of San Francisco and his brother Major William F. Lafrenz, who has recently returned from Honolulu and is now on duty with the Reserve Officers' Training Corps at San Francisco.

* * *

Mrs. Constance Yates of Scenic Drive returned from a two weeks' visit in Los Angeles with Mrs. Edith Nash, daughter of Mrs. Charles Frisbie of Carmel and sister of Ann Harding.

The Californian

Formerly the Carmel Sun
Published Every Wednesday

PALMER T. BEAUDETTE, Editor and Publisher
MARIE LORD BEAUDETTE, Business Manager
JACK WILLIAMSON, Associate Editor
CHARLOTTE LAWRENCE, Society and Art Editor

Entered as second-class matter, February 3, 1933, at the postoffice at Carmel, California, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

The Californian, formerly The Carmel Sun, was adjudicated a Newspaper of General Circulation by the Superior Court of Monterey County, California, October 7, 1936.

Subscription rate $2 per year.

Those of you who have been reading The Californian for the last couple of years must have noted many changes in the form in which it has been presented to you.

Not so long ago—before it was taken over by its present management—it may have appeared to be a political organ for one of the major parties. Perhaps it was.

When that party went down in defeat, The Californian was offered for sale and was taken over by its present owners.

We had no axe to grind. Our only desire was to publish a paper that you would like. We had no desire to become embroiled in controversies with contemporaries. We gave no thought to "survival of the fittest." Our aim was to give Carmel a weekly paper that was distinctive.

If you care to go back over our files you will find that since the early part of December The Californian has undergone some radical changes.

From the start we had, we endeavored to give you complete news coverage of the village. The artists of the Peninsula cooperated with us. Their linoleum cuts were combined with what we believe were pleasing examples of typographical "make-up."

The Californian started to attract attention.

We were not satisfied and felt that we could give you something even more distinctive. Our previous efforts were scrapped and we pioneered the "offset" process to give you your first Pictorial Weekly.

We encountered a lot of obstacles, as all pioneers do, and we sincerely hope that obstacles will keep ahead of us and inspire us to overcome them.

We tried to ignore slurs cast upon us in printed columns and "whispering campaigns." We wanted to pursue our course without antagonizing anyone, but it is apparent that this can not be done.

Once more, The Californian is about to undergo a change in style.

We have found that even those who profess to be our friends have been knifing us in the back by circulating reports that we are about ready to "fold up." They have been asking what purpose we have for existing and criticizing us for our shortcomings during this experimental stage of our enterprise.

We are announcing to the world in general that we intend to keep right on experimenting until we can produce a weekly paper which will be distinctive enough to become a vital part of this community.

Your response to our efforts to give you a paper that is different has been encouraging, so encouraging that we are accepting all challenges laid before us.

We are not ashamed of the progress we have made. We are going to make more progress. If we are allowed to follow our course in a peaceful manner we intend to stick to that course but we are going to fight fire with fire.

The Californian is in Carmel to STAY!

We want to be peaceful but if our right to existance is challenged from now on we are serving notice that we will meet any challenger on his home grounds on a basis of winner take all.

Snapshots

The first of what threatens to be a Carmel invasion of baby alligators arrived at the Carmel post office last week.

Like any other baby it was hungry and proceeded to gnaw the end of Elane Carter's pencil before it was claimed by Mrs. William Hudson and induced to switch to a more appropriate diet of hamburger.

We understand it was a present from Ed Converse who, much to the consternation of local postal authorities, is said to be planning to send the reptiles to all of his many Carmel friends.

* * *

Sally Fry went journeying again last week end. This time to Santa Barbara. While there she discovered an interesting Norwegian restaurant in an attractive court opposite the post office on State street.

The waitresses, Sally reported, were dressed in authentic Norwegian costume and the walls were hung with Viking battle axes and shields.

But the big surprise was when she discovered that it was run by a former stewart of the Norwegian boat on which she returned from Panama.

* * *

While in Santa Barbara, Sally also visited Mrs. Martina Tait, of Carmel, who is enthusiastic over the new domestic help PWA project of which she has charge in the southern city. A similar project for the training of servants and waitresses is planned for the Monterey Peninsula in the near future, Mrs. Tait said. It should be welcomed as a practical solution of the servant problem.

* * *

Life goes to a party almost every week in a nation-wide weekly pictorial but life kept at least one nurse from a party in Carmel last week. She attended the baby which was born to Mrs. Gabriel Burnette at Carmel Hospital while the Nurses' Ball was at its height last Saturday night. The ball was well attended and proved a big success.

* * *

The approaching visit of Joan White will be of interest to her friends in Carmel. She is the "White" of "Black and White" famous radio piano team which will play for the Hollywood Symphonic Ballet to be presented at Del Monte next Wednesday night in aid of the Carmel Mission Restoration Fund. The "Black" is Carol Black.

* * *

Many young Carmelites are busy these days selling tickets for the affair which promises to be well attended, according to Mrs. Ray Brownell, chairman of the general committee. All proceeds will be devoted to the Carmel Mission Restoration Fund and first come, first served, will be the rule for choice seats.

* * *

Plans for the Monterey Peninsula's next big sports attraction took definite form last week with the appointment of Judge Floyd McKenney, presiding steward at Tanforan, in the same capacity for the Monterey Peninsula Racing Association meet at Del Monte opening May 31st. The meet will run for five days with purses averaging $400 and a special handicap on the closing day.

In honor of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Malott of Indiana who are spending a few days on the Peninsula, Mrs. F. W. Ten Winkel was hostess at a small dinner Friday evening. Her guests were Mr. and Mrs. Malott, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Darling and Mrs. Gordon Gauld of Crawfordsville, Indiana.

Spring Is Here

Little Ann Hathaway is pictured in the midst of Carmel's annual wildflower exhibit. It is the first time in her brief span of years that she has been able to enjoy the colorful display. And is she having fun?

Flowers Are Out

Warm weather has arrived at last and nature is busy painting our hillsides with vivid colors, blue, yellow, and green predominating.

The wild flowers are out in profusion. Carmel Valley is a thing of beauty but Hatton Fields is closer and is almost as beautiful.

Scores of nature lovers are roaming over the hills and here and there, as usual, you will find an artist busy on a canvas.

Mr. and Mrs. Elstner Hilton are in New York now, having returned to this continent from Johannesburg, South Africa, and will leave for their Pebble Beach home the middle of this month.

Among the many things Mr. Hilton has recently sent to his Pebble Beach home from all over the world, was a beautiful ten-foot lion skin, complete from bushy black mane to tuft on tail.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wehrhane of Carmel invited a number of friends to dinner Saturday evening in the Bali Room at Del Monte. Their guests were Major and Mrs. Chester A. Shephard, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Whitman, Mrs. Muriel Marsh, Miss Marguerite Moll, Dr. Hugh Dormody and Mr. Frank Work.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McKay who have been occupying a house in Pebble Beach for several weeks, left on Thursday and are motoring back to New York.

• • •

After having spent their honeymoon in the Tobin Clark villa at Pebble Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Diego Suarez (Mrs. Evelyn Marshall Field) departed for New York Friday.

One of the largest and most delightful parties of the season was given at the Cypress Point Club in Pebble Beach by Mr. Frank T. Heffelfinger of Minneapolis who has been a guest at Del Monte Lodge for the past few months.

The group met at the Cypress Point Club in the early afternoon for two-ball mixed foursomes, with men's and ladies' prizes awarded for low gross and low net. Following the golf, the guests adjourned to the Clubhouse for tea, supper and bridge.

Enjoying Mr. Heffelfinger's hospitality were friends from many parts of the country, including: Messrs. and Mesdames Henry Prather Fletcher of New York, John Magee, Allen Griffin, S. F. B. Morse, Totten Heffelfinger, of Minneapolis, Alfred Pillsbury of Minneapolis, Francis McComas, Paul Winslow, Paul Hunter, George Heffelfinger of Winnipeg, Rochester B. Slaughter of New York, Paul Veeder, Christopher Buckley Jr., of San Francisco, C. W. Roenisch of Calgary, Canada, Robert Hunter of Pasadena, Henry Potter Russell, Eric Tyrrell-Martin, Robert McKay of New York, William H. vom Rath of New York, Diego Suarez of New York, Sidney Fish, Stuart Haldorn, Wheeler Farish of St. Joseph, Mo., Harold L. Mack, Edward H. Baldwin of Honolulu, Reginald Sinclaire of Colorado Springs; Mrs. Frances Elkins, Mrs. Muriel Vanderbilt Phelps, Mrs. J. L. League Gets Going Carmel's most famous institution, the Abalone League, got under way Saturday. A riot call had been sent out for former players and when they arrived upon the grounds in the Carmel Woods area they were presented with lawn mowers and shovels.

The tall grass had to be eliminated and the gopher holes filled in before anything interesting happened. Thirty-five ardent devotees of the sport we originated and is now America's present softball baseball craze rallied to the colors. Two practice games were played when the work was finished.

According to Byington Ford, who took the lead in getting the group together, official play will start Sunday. There will be four teams and the schedule will be so arranged that each team meets every other team in three contests. The season will close early in June.

"Doc" Staniford, official umpire, turned out for practice too when the Abalone Leaguers met. He found that he was in perfect condition and his decisions were punk as ever. In the picture above, By Ford and Helen Heavey don't exactly agree with him as he rules that she has just scored a home run.

Joe Catherwood went into hiding April first. It seems that Joe made some candy. That in itself is unusual. But Joe's candy was super-unique, garlic flavored, and was accompanied by a lusty shout of April Fool. The only rub was that Joe forgot there were 31 days in March and "sprang" his joke just one day too early.

Jean Crossman drove down to Carmel Friday to spend the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Crossman.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Reynolds accompanied by Mr. Reynolds' brother and his wife who have been their guests for some time, left Carmel last week end for a ten days' leisurely trip on the Redwood Highway.

Lloyd Weer wins the $5 prize this week with the woodland scene above. It is not only an interesting composition but his negative was just about as near perfect as any we have seen.

Irving K. Gundersen was caught in a freak snowstorm in Hollister last week and came back with photographic proof of it.

Jack Jordan made the picture on Monterey bay. Apparently, it is a double exposure. The movement of the boats seem to indicate that after making his exposure he left his camera on the tripod and waited until the lights came on and then made another. Good work.

Arthur T. Shand's camera recorded this interesting vista in the Mojave desert recently.

The wedding of Miss Parsons and Mr. Harold Edmund Davis which was solemnized Saturday at St. Mary's-by-the-Sea Episcopal Church in Pacific Grove by the Reverend Charles A. Greenleaf, united two of the Peninsula's most popular younger residents. The bride has for some time been identified with the Parson's Antique Shop in the Seven Arts Building, while Mr. Davis is the manager of the Pacific Grove branch of the Bank of America.

On returning from their wedding trip, which will take them to Palm Springs, and the Grand Canyon, Mr. and Mrs. Davis will reside in Pacific Grove.

From Fresno came the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wick W. Parsons, her brother, Mr. Wick S. Parsons, and her aunt, Miss Kate Parsons to witness the ceremony. Mrs. Maude Davis of Oakland, mother of the groom was also in attendance.

To a Pup

A poem written after two days with the fuzz-button pup left on our doorstep.

Dear funny fuzzy little pup
Asleep against my feet,
What dreams disturb your cozy nap,
What cats are in retreat
That you should jerk and twitch and whine
And growl your little growl,

Is it that brindled dog next door
Or just some neighbor's fowl.
That's poaching in your master's yard
And scratching up our garden,
Or have you torn my hat to bits
And humbly beg my pardon
Or does some lion, wolf or bear
Attack me while you fight 'em?
Of course you don't know what they are
But if you did you'd bite 'em.

Oh, little funny fuzzy pup,
Your trusting dog devotion
Is something humans seldom give.
You haven't any notion
Just how your love makes aches creep in
Between my laughs and chortles.
You let me know how dogs must feel
When they regard us mortals.

Plan Underpass

The Parent-Teacher association is conducting a campaign to have an underpass constructed in front of the Sunset school for the protection of children who must cross San Carlos street.

Although the school's Junior Traffic Patrol is efficient, it is practically impossible to keep the children in the traffic lanes during the rush hours, escort late arrivals across the street or provide escorts for every child who happens to leave the school at odd hours.

The underpass plan is meeting with approval by the motorists as traffic is held up to an annoying extent during the rush hours.

Our cameraman caught the picture above during the time that the children were leaving the school at noon.

Miss Burnette is being welcomed to Carmel. She arrived yesterday at the Peninsula Community Hospital and has definitely decided against dieting as she feels that her weight of seven pounds and four ounces is just about right.

Her proud parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel H. Burnette are receiving congratulations on the charming addition to their family.

The Parent Teacher Association of Sunset School has announced that they will have as guest speaker Mrs. Mabel Farrington Gifford, Chief of the Bureau of Correction of Speech Defects of the State of California. The meeting will take place on Monday, April 12th in the library of Sunset School at 3 p.m.

Mrs. Gifford's subject will be, "Better Speech in the Home and School."
